Why re-visioning Education ?

- Societies are more connected than ever before but inequalities are deepening !
- Access has widened but quality of education and the relevance of learning is questionable !
- New skills and competencies are required but Curriculum remains same!
- New learning environments and new approaches to learning are emerging but teaching learning is largely dominated by the teachers !
- Schooling and formal education are essential but we must widen the angle, to foster learning throughout life.

Learning Environment is Changing....

- Classroom-centered learning is now challenged by the expansion of access to knowledge by evolving devices.
- Learners can access educational resources of anything any time, anywhere.
- The emergence of new technologies has drastically changed the nature of educational processes and delivery.
- Learning has thus become more informal, personal and global.
- Teachers are no longer the main source of knowledge.
- Focus of curriculum is skills rather facts.

Re-visioning Education

- The educational landscape of today's world is undergoing radical transformation with regard to methods, content and spaces of learning.
- The increased availability of and access to diverse sources of knowledge are expanding opportunities for learning.
- Learning now is less structured and more innovative, affecting the classroom, pedagogy, teacher authority and learning processes.

To cope with this changes what are new forms of education and competencies?

Key questions before education planners and managers

1. What education do we need for the 21st century?
2. What is the purpose of education in the current context of societal transformation?
3. How should learning be organized?

Rethinking the purpose of education and the organization of learning accordingly has never been more urgent
