The Presentation on

Ahsania Mission Book Distribution House (AMBDH)

7 January, 2019

Introduction:

- Ahsania Mission Book Distribution House (AMBDH) established in 1995 with a view to providing education services amongst the literate section of the population in Bangladesh.
- AMBDH is one of the Largest Distributors and Suppliers of Foreign Books in Bangladesh.
It is not a typical commercial enterprise, rather it works as a social service entity by facilitating the local readers of books published aboard to have rather easy access which would have been difficult for them otherwise.

Foreign Book Procurement within the fastest possible time is one of the key activities of AMBDH where all most all the big institution Libraries confidently rely on for this service.

Conclusion:

- More than 18 years BDH has been doing his business almost without investment because of the credit facilities we have with the abroad publishers. Each & every credit accounts has it's limit & duration. Because of investment insecurity & non conducive business environment for fair business we are bit reluctant of going beyond the limit.

Beside all the limitation BDH has been a self dependent business unit of DAM since 2002. More over we have been contributing to DAM general fund whatever might be the amount.
